*Norwegian Luna · 7 Nights from Miami
May 16 – 23, 2026 · Hosted Solo Traveler Group Cruise*

Tina Maulsby — your group host on Norwegian Luna

A Voyage Pack from In the Wake
Hosted by Tina Maulsby · Maulsby Travel Co.

Welcome

This pack exists to make one specific cruise easier: Norwegian Luna, sailing 7 nights from PortMiami, May 16 – 23, 2026, calling at Puerto Plata (Amber Cove), St. Thomas, Tortola, and Great Stirrup Cay. It's a hosted solo traveler group cruise organized by Tina Maulsby of Maulsby Travel Co.

A note on timing. This pack is being written in the same week the ship sails. If you're reading it before embarkation, the Pre-Cruise Countdown section is for you. If you're reading it from the ship — Wi-Fi permitting — the day-by-day rhythm, the port pages, and Section 9 (the group cruise rhythm Tina is setting) are what you want. Either way, the pack is here to remove planning friction, not add to it.

It is calm by design. There is no urgency, no upsell, no countdown timer. The site that produced this pack is independent — no cruise-line affiliations, no shore-excursion commissions, no display ads.

Includes an offline-capable Emergency Contacts section — a fillable family handoff card, cruise-line and consulate numbers tailored to this itinerary, available offline after first load via In the Wake's PWA. Designed to share with one trusted person ashore before sailing.

If you're sailing solo for the first time, you are not the only one in this group doing so; you are far from the only one in the wider community. There is a real authority on solo cruising on this site, Tina Maulsby, and her solo cruising stories are worth reading whether before, during, or after this trip. Tina is your group host this week, so the rhythm of this cruise will reflect her sensibility — practical, warm, low-pressure.

Section 1 — Your Ship: Norwegian Luna

A brand-new Prima Plus ship in her debut season

Norwegian Luna is one of the newest cruise ships in the world at the time of your sailing — delivered in early 2026 by Fincantieri at Monfalcone, Italy, with her maiden voyage on March 10, 2026 (a transatlantic from Civitavecchia to PortMiami via Barcelona and Gibraltar). Her inaugural Caribbean season began March 23, 2026. By your May 16 sailing she's been in service about eight weeks — long enough that the crew is settling in, short enough that you'll still feel the new-ship sheen.

She's the second ship of the Prima Plus class — a roughly 10% larger evolution of NCL's Prima class. Her direct sister is Norwegian Aqua (2025); the original Prima class is Norwegian Prima (2022) and Norwegian Viva (2023). If you've sailed Aqua before, Luna is the same hull form and the same general layout with refinements; the Prima/Viva pair are smaller but share the family DNA.

Her godmother is ELLE, a street artist from Napa, California. NCL has been choosing modern-art-aligned godmothers and godfathers across the Prima family (Katy Perry for Prima, Luis Fonsi for Viva), and the choice tracks with the line's contemporary visual identity — graffiti motifs, bold ship-side art, atrium installations.

What's distinctive about Luna

This is a ship designed for outdoor deck time at sea rather than indoor weather contingency — well-suited to the Caribbean. The signature features:

- Ocean Boulevard — a 360-degree outdoor promenade wrapping the ship, with infinity pools that hang over the hull edge and glass bridges that span between deck areas. Most ships put their promenade indoors or on a lower deck; Luna's wraps the upper deck at sea level views.
- Aqua Slidecoaster — a hybrid water slide / roller coaster with magnetic propulsion. Free; first-come; lines build by mid-morning on sea days.
- Penrose Atrium — the first three-level atrium for NCL, a major departure from the line's recent single-level atrium designs. The social heart of the ship; this is where Tina's hosted meet-and-greets will most likely happen.

- Expanded Mandara Spa with a two-story waterfall — larger than Aqua’s spa; thermal area, treatment rooms, hydrotherapy pool.
- 35 venues including seven fleet-first dining and bar concepts — Luna pushes further into specialty dining and themed bars than any prior NCL ship.
- The Haven — NCL’s ship-within-a-ship luxury enclave, spread across eight decks with private restaurant, courtyard, bar, lounge, and pool. If you booked a Haven suite, your week is materially different from the rest of the ship.

What’s NOT on Luna (because she’s Prima Plus, not Breakaway-Plus or Bliss-class): no ice rink, no traditional 3-story Broadway theater (Luna uses the Luna Theatre and Improv venues for shows); the production show culture is closer to a Las Vegas residency than to Broadway. That’s the right comparison to set expectations.

Cabin categories — the solo-cruiser calculus

NCL’s signature solo offering applies on Luna: dedicated Studio cabins with no single supplement, Studio Lounge access (free coffee, social space, scheduled hosted hours for solo cruisers), and a built-in cohort of fellow solos. The Studio is roughly 100 sq ft and windowless — compact and efficient. The Studio Lounge is your daily social anchor independent of the group meetups.

Decision rule for the May 16 sailing:

- Studio ($1,839 group rate) — best value if you’re confident in the solo-cabin culture and you prioritize spend on excursions and dining over space. Studio cabins on Prima Plus ships are well-designed and the Studio Lounge is a real amenity.
- Oceanview ($3,059 group rate) — meaningful upgrade in space and natural light; full single-occupancy pricing because Oceanview categories typically don’t waive the supplement. Worth it for travelers who feel claustrophobic in interior cabins or want to read by a window.
- Balcony ($3,349 group rate) — the Caribbean argument for a balcony is real: sea-day mornings, port-day sailaways, late-night anchor watches. For a 7-night Caribbean cruise, the price difference vs. Studio is significant; this is a comfort choice, not a necessity.

Verify pricing with Tina; group rates can shift up to sailing.

For ship-size context, the Ship Size Atlas lets you compare Luna to other ships. You can follow her live position throughout your week via the Ship Logbook — a small comfort if family ashore wants to know where you are.

Dining

Luna runs NCL's Freestyle Dining model — no fixed dining-room assignment, no traditional set seating; you eat where and when you want within the included venues, with specialty restaurants available at additional cost.

Included main dining: - Hudson's (Deck 8) — main dining room with 270-degree floor-to-ceiling windows. (This is your group's nightly anchor — see Section 9.) -

Indulge Food Hall — a multi-vendor food hall concept across several stations; lively, casual, included. - Surfside Café & Grill — buffet and grill on the upper decks. - The Local Bar & Grill — pub-style, 24-hour favorites.

Specialty restaurants (paid extra):

- Cagney's Steakhouse — NCL's signature steakhouse.
- Le Bistro — French.
- Onda by Scarpetta — Italian, partnership with the New York Scarpetta brand.
- Palomar — Mediterranean (Prima class concept).
- Sukhothai — Thai.
- Hasuki — teppanyaki.
- Several fleet-first specialty concepts unique to Luna.

The included dining on NCL is genuinely good across all four included venues. For a 7-night cruise, a Specialty Dining Package (3–5 meals) prepaid in the Cruise Planner is good value if you'd dine specialty 3+ times anyway. Run the math in the cruise-budget-calculator before buying.

Drinks

NCL's drink-package math is straightforward: the Premium Beverage Package is commonly included in the “Free at Sea” promotional bundle when booking — so if Tina priced your fare with Free at Sea attached, your drinks are already covered. Otherwise, the package runs $109/day per person + 20% gratuity at pre-cruise rates. At those numbers, the package breaks even at 5–6 drinks per day. For most cruisers, pay-as-you-go ends up cheaper than expected. The drink-calculator lets you put in your real consumption pattern.

If your fare was Studio category at the group rate, verify with Tina what's bundled. NCL's Free at Sea promotion has been the default-included perk on most 2026 sailings, but group rates sometimes negotiate this differently.

Section 2 — Day by Day

The verified day-by-day for the May 16 – 23, 2026 sailing. Times and port stops confirmed against NCL's published itinerary as of writing.

Day 1 — Saturday, May 16 — PortMiami (embarkation)

Arrival: Norwegian Luna sails from PortMiami on Dodge Island, ~10 minutes from downtown Miami and ~20 minutes from MIA by Uber/Lyft. The NCL terminal is typically Terminal B; verify your assignment from your NCL eDocs. Embark window typically 11:00 AM – 3:00 PM; ship departs 4:00 PM.

The realistic Day 1 timeline:

- 11:00 AM – 1:00 PM: First-wave embarkation at the NCL terminal. Drop bags with porter at curb (tip $1–2/bag in cash). Proceed through security and NCL check-in.
- 1:00 – 2:00 PM: Cabins typically NOT ready until 2 PM (Luna policy may vary). Carry-on with you to Surfside Café for a low-key embarkation lunch, or Indulge Food Hall if it's open Day 1.
- 2:00 PM: Cabins open. Find your cabin. Introduce yourself to your stateroom steward — they remember names, and the relationship makes the week.
- 2:30 – 3:30 PM: Light exploration. Find the Penrose Atrium (the social heart and where Tina is most likely to hold her welcome meetup), Hudson's on Deck 8 (because that's where you'll be at 5:30 every night this week — see Section 9), and your nearest elevator bank.

- 3:30 PM: Mandatory muster drill — NCL’s drill is partly app-based (watch a safety video in the NCL app) plus an in-person check-in at your assigned station. Don’t skip; the captain won’t sail until 100% completion.
- 4:00 PM: Sailaway. Best viewing from Ocean Boulevard (Deck 8 wraparound) on the side facing the channel, or from your balcony. The departure past Star Island and out through Government Cut is a Miami signature view.
- 5:30 PM: Dinner at Hudson’s — the first night of the group’s standing 5:30 gathering. Show up if you can; if your bags are still in the hall, eat in your clothes — Hudson’s dress code is smart casual all week.

What to pack in your carry-on for Day 1: swimsuit (pools open before bags arrive), light layer (Miami evenings can be 70°F in May), all medications, change of clothes, passport (strongly preferred over birth-cert+ID for this Caribbean itinerary because Tortola and St. Thomas have different documentation expectations), phone charger, refillable water bottle, embarkation paperwork. Your checked bags may not arrive until 7–9 PM.

Money/card: Your NCL keycard is your ID, room key, and onboard charge. You’ll receive it at check-in. NCL’s onboard currency is US Dollar.

Day 2 — Sunday, May 17 — Cruising at sea

The settling-in day. The group’s rhythm starts taking shape.

Morning: - Coffee on Ocean Boulevard is the day’s strongest move — outdoor seating with sea views, the first hour after sunrise has the best light. - Breakfast at Surfside Café (buffet, busy) or Hudson’s (sit-down, calmer, often offering a more reliable hot coffee).

Mid-morning to lunch — pick ONE:

- The Penrose Atrium for whatever Tina’s running. The first hosted group activity is often a Day-2 morning meet-and-greet; check her group communications for the specific time and location.
- The Mandara Spa thermal-suite day pass. Sea-day mornings are when introductory rates appear. Worth it if you’d otherwise pay daily rates.
- The Studio Lounge if you booked a Studio cabin — host hours typically run morning and evening; daytime is quieter and good for finding your fellow Studio neighbors.

- The Aqua Slidecoaster — short lines first thing.

Afternoon: - The Caribbean Sea outside your cabin window is the day's best entertainment. Don't over-program. - Trivia and games in the social bars. - A theater show if anything's scheduled.

5:30 PM: Dinner at Hudson's. Night two of the group's standing time.

Day 3 — Monday, May 18 — Puerto Plata (Amber Cove), Dominican Republic

Arrival: 7:00 AM. Depart 3:00 PM. You dock at Amber Cove, not the older Puerto Plata pier or the newer Taino Bay terminal — Amber Cove is a purpose-built cruise port in Maimón Bay, about 10 miles west of downtown Puerto Plata.

Honest read on Amber Cove and Puerto Plata. Amber Cove was developed by Carnival Corporation and opened in 2015 — a private resort-style terminal with a Spanish colonial aesthetic, infinity pools, a swim-up bar, restaurants, shops, and an excursions plaza. It's designed for ships to dock and for guests to never leave if they don't want to. It is not Puerto Plata itself. The actual city — Mount Isabel de Torres cable car, Fort San Felipe, the Malecón seafront — is a 20–30 minute taxi ride away. The 27 Waterfalls of Damajagua (the region's signature natural attraction) is about 45 minutes inland.

Free at the terminal:

- The Amber Cove resort grounds — beach chairs, umbrellas, pool with swim-up bar and waterslide.
- Restaurants and shops (paid food/drinks, free browsing).
- A short walking circuit around the colonial-style village.

Paid options (decide ahead — ship-sold or independent):

- 27 Waterfalls of Damajagua — the region's signature excursion. Hike upstream through a narrow river canyon and either climb or slide down 7, 12, or 27 limestone-pool waterfalls. Wet, physical, unforgettable. Ship excursions ~$130–180; independent operators ~$60–100. Wear water shoes or sturdy trainers you don't mind getting soaked.

- Mount Isabel de Torres cable car — to a 2,600-ft summit with a statue of Christ the Redeemer (smaller cousin of Rio's) and panoramic views. ~$30 independent / ~$70 ship-sold.
- Ocean World adventure park — dolphin swims, shark encounter, sea lion show. ~10 min from port. Family-targeted; high cost.
- Playa Dorada beach — long white-sand beach with restaurants and bars. Public access; ~$30 round-trip taxi.
- City tour of Puerto Plata — Fort San Felipe, Amber Museum, Cigar Factory, Central Plaza. ~$40 independent.

For first-time visitors to the Dominican Republic: the 27 Waterfalls is the iconic excursion. If physical activity isn't right today (the climb requires fitness; the slides are not for the height-shy), the Mount Isabel cable car + Playa Dorada combo is a strong half-day.

Currency and tipping: the Dominican peso is local currency; USD is widely accepted at Amber Cove and major tourist spots. Tip 10–15% on tour costs; $1–2 per taxi ride; $1 per drink at the bar.

For accessibility: Amber Cove terminal is fully accessible (paved, level paths). Most off-port excursions involve unpaved trails or non-accessible vehicles; confirm specific tour accessibility with the operator in advance.

Back on board by 2:30 PM for a 3:00 PM all-aboard. Don't cut this close — Caribbean roads and tour vans don't always keep schedule.

5:30 PM: Dinner at Hudson's. Even on port days. The whole point of the standing time is that it's standing.

Day 4 — Tuesday, May 19 — St. Thomas, US Virgin Islands

Charlotte Amalie harbor seen from above — the cruise ships, the colonial roofs, the green hills behind

Arrival: 10:00 AM. Depart 6:00 PM. NCL Luna typically docks at the WICO (West Indian Company) Dock or Crown Bay, both within taxi distance of Charlotte Amalie (the capital and main town).

Honest read on St. Thomas. A US territory since 1917; population ~50,000; densely cruise-touristed (St. Thomas is one of the Caribbean’s busiest cruise ports, often with 4–6 ships in port simultaneously). The downtown of Charlotte Amalie is a working town with a strong Danish-colonial layer (the Danes ruled until 1917 — the architectural fingerprint is everywhere). The duty-free shopping district along Main Street and around Drake’s Passage is dense and aggressive. Beyond shopping, the island has genuinely good beaches, a real maritime history, and walking-distance fortifications.

Free, walkable from the cruise terminal (or short taxi):

- Fort Christian — 1672 Danish colonial fort, the oldest standing structure on St. Thomas. Small museum; ~10-minute walk from WICO.
- Blackbeard’s Castle — historic complex up the hill with 99 Steps and Skysborg Tower; pirate-era history. ~$15 entry.

- Drake's Seat overlook — panoramic view across St. John and the BVI. Reachable by safari taxi (~$15 round-trip per person).
- 99 Steps — the iconic Charlotte Amalie staircase; built from Danish ballast bricks. Free, photogenic, brief uphill.

Paid (decide ahead):

- Magens Bay — repeatedly listed among the world's most beautiful beaches; calm water, palm trees, the postcard image. $5 entry + ~$10 taxi each way. For most cruisers visiting St. Thomas, Magens Bay is the right choice.
- Coki Beach + Coral World — beach + small marine park; good for snorkeling beginners. Coki Beach is free; Coral World ~$30.
- St. John day trip — ferry from Red Hook to St. John (the quieter, mostly-national-park sister island), then a taxi to Trunk Bay or Cinnamon Bay. ~$80–120 round trip including ferry and taxis. Worth the effort if you want the National Park experience.
- Sailing day trip (catamaran + snorkel) — $130–180/person.

For first-time St. Thomas: Magens Bay is the default-good choice for ~half a day. If you have the energy for the ferry-and-taxi work, St. John is the deeper Virgin Islands experience.

Currency: US Dollar (it's a US territory). Standard US tipping practices apply.

For accessibility: WICO and Crown Bay terminals are accessible. Charlotte Amalie sidewalks are mixed; the 99 Steps is stairs (not accessible by definition). Magens Bay has accessible parking, restrooms, and beach access.

Back on board by 5:30 PM for 6:00 PM all-aboard. The 5:30 dinner at Hudson's still applies — you'll roll off the gangway, change quickly, and meet the group.

Day 5 — Wednesday, May 20 — Tortola, British Virgin Islands

Arrival: 6:45 AM. Depart 2:00 PM. This is the trip's earliest dock and earliest departure. If you want any of the day, set an alarm.

NCL Luna docks at the Tortola Pier Park in Road Town, the BVI capital — directly adjacent to the cruise terminal complex, no tender required.

Honest read on Tortola. The largest of the British Virgin Islands; population ~24,000; a British Overseas Territory still using the US Dollar despite the British flag. The BVI is quieter than St. Thomas — fewer ships, fewer aggressive vendors, a more deliberate pace. The island is mountainous; the iconic destinations are reached by safari taxi over winding roads, not on foot.

Free, walkable from the pier:

- Road Town — Main Street walkable; the J.R. O’Neal Botanic Gardens (~10-min walk, ~$5 entry — quietly excellent); the old courthouse and government complex.
- Pier Park — a planned cruise-port shopping/dining complex; restaurants and shops at the gangway.

Paid (decide ahead):

- Cane Garden Bay — one of the BVI’s signature beaches; a curve of white sand backed by green hills. ~$20–30 taxi each way. Calm water, restaurants, bars. For most cruisers in Tortola, this is the day.
- The Baths on Virgin Gorda — the iconic BVI experience. Massive granite boulders forming sea caves and natural pools you swim through. Requires a ferry from Tortola to Virgin Gorda + taxi. A full half-day; with the 2 PM all-aboard, this requires precise timing and is usually only practical via a ship-sold or pre-booked package. ~$150–200/person all in.
- Sage Mountain National Park — Tortola’s high point and rainforest. Hiking; cool temperatures; less-crowded. Half-day excursion.
- Sailing or snorkeling day trip — catamarans to Norman Island or the BVI’s small reef islands. $130–180/person; standout for water-lovers.

For first-time Tortola: Cane Garden Bay is the right call if it’s a beach day. If you’re already a Caribbean-beach veteran and want something different, The Baths on Virgin Gorda is the postcard — but only via a tightly-scheduled ship excursion given the 2:00 PM all-aboard.

Currency: US Dollar (despite the British flag).

For accessibility: Pier Park is accessible. Most off-port excursions involve open-air safari taxis and unpaved beach approaches; verify in advance.

Back on board by 1:30 PM for 2:00 PM all-aboard. Tortola is the day with the least margin.

5:30 PM: Dinner at Hudson's. You'll be on board well before; the early departure means an easy afternoon on the ship.

Day 6 — Thursday, May 21 — Cruising at sea

The week's second sea day. By now the group has formed; the rhythm of the ship is familiar; the cabin feels lived-in.

Morning ideas: - Spa — book treatments on sea days; the spa is at its busiest mid-morning. - Aqua Slidecoaster — the second sea day is when most guests have done it once and lines settle. - Trivia / lectures / activities in the day's program. - Ocean Boulevard with a coffee and a book.

Afternoon ideas: - The Penrose Atrium — a hosted group activity is often the second sea-day afternoon. Check Tina's communications. - A theater show — Luna Theatre has rotating productions; the daily program lists them. - Pool deck — quietest hours are 2–4 PM after the lunch peak.

5:30 PM: Dinner at Hudson's. Night six.

Day 7 — Friday, May 22 — Great Stirrup Cay, Bahamas

Arrival: 10:00 AM. Depart 6:00 PM. Great Stirrup Cay is NCL's private island in the Berry Islands chain of the Bahamas, ~120 nautical miles from Miami. Tender required — the island has no deep-water dock; Luna anchors offshore and tenders ferry guests in.

Honest read on Great Stirrup Cay. NCL has had this island since 1977 — it was the first cruise-line private island in the Caribbean. As of 2026, NCL is mid-redevelopment with a roughly $150M investment. By your May 22 visit, the new beach club zones are in service but the Great Tides Water Park is NOT yet open — that opens in late summer 2026. You'll see construction infrastructure in some areas. Honesty: the island is in transition; it's prettier than it was, but not yet finished.

Three main beaches:

- Infinity Beach — the central, busiest beach; convenient to bars, restaurants, the lighthouse.
- Lighthouse Beach — the south side, near the historic lighthouse and the new Lighthouse Zipline.

- Cabana Beach — for guests who pre-booked a cabana; quieter, premium.

What's included (free):

- Beach access at all open beach zones
- Loungers (first-come, first-served) and beach umbrellas
- Tender transport ship-to-island
- BBQ buffet lunch (typical Bahamas-American: jerk chicken, ribs, salads, hot dogs, burgers)
- Snorkel gear from the watersports hut (deposit required)
- Bottled water at lunch venues

Paid options:

- Vibe Shore Club — adults-only (18+) private beach, premium loungers, a curated playlist, private bar with premium cocktails, light snacks. ~$79+/person. The grown-up retreat.
- Cabana rentals — 2-person and family cabanas with shade, fresh towels, food/drink service. $300–700+ for the day depending on size and location.
- Lighthouse Zipline — 10 zip-lines spanning the beach, including a tower take-off (“Flighthouse”). Under $20 for the multi-line option. Genuinely good value.
- Snorkel excursions — guided reef tours by boat; $60–90/person.
- Watersports — kayaks, paddleboards, jet skis (pay-per-rental).

For first-time Great Stirrup Cay: the included beach + BBQ lunch is genuinely good and free. Pay extra only if either (a) the Vibe adult retreat appeals more than free Infinity Beach, or (b) the zipline strikes you as a $20 well spent.

Back on board by 5:30 PM for 6:00 PM all-aboard.

5:30 PM: Dinner at Hudson's. The group's last night together this week.

Day 8 — Saturday, May 23 — PortMiami (disembarkation)

The realistic timeline:

- 6:00 – 7:30 AM: Breakfast at Surfside Café or Hudson's. Both run early on debarkation morning.
- 6:30 AM: Bags must be in the hall the night before (NCL color-codes by tag).

- 7:00 – 9:30 AM: Walk-off in waves by tag color. Self-disembarkation (carry all bags off; first off the ship around 7:00 AM) is the fastest if you have an early flight.
- 10:00 AM (latest): All passengers off the ship.

Tipping at the end of the cruise. NCL’s auto-gratuity is added daily ($20/day per person at most cabin categories; $25/day in Suites and Haven; verify). Additional cash tips for outstanding service are appreciated:

- Stateroom steward who went above and beyond: $30–50 cash at end of week
- Hudson’s waiter / waitress if you had a consistent server for the standing 5:30 dinners: $20–40 cash
- Bar staff or barista you saw repeatedly: $10–20

If you tipped well in cash mid-cruise, no need to tip again at the end.

Section 3 — Pre-Cruise (or While-You-Sail) Countdown

If you’re reading this before May 16, 2026

- Confirm your booking with Tina (tina@maulsbytravel.com / 910-528-5077). Group rates above are starting points; the final invoice will reflect tax, port fees, and any add-ons.
- Decide on cabin category — see Section 1. Studio is the solo-traveler value play; Oceanview or Balcony are comfort upgrades.
- Travel insurance. Strongly recommended. For a Caribbean cruise, “trip interruption” and “medical evacuation” coverage matter. Confirm coverage notes with Tina.
- Book pre-cruise hotel in Miami. The night-before hotel is non-negotiable.
- Plan flights to MIA or FLL. Arrive at minimum the day before sailing. Caribbean sailings out of Miami in summer are not the time to test a same-day flight to a 3 PM all-aboard.

- Submit any status match if you've sailed other lines and want NCL Latitudes tier matched (the Voyagers/Latitudes match systems are free and quick).
- Pre-cruise check-in opens 21–30 days before sailing in the NCL app.
- Pre-cruise purchases (drinks package, specialty dining, spa, excursions) in the Cruise Planner are 5–15% cheaper than onboard.
- Confirm Hudson's 5:30 group dining time with Tina — Section 9 covers the group rhythm.
- Sleep early the night before. Get to PortMiami with margin.

If you're reading this from the ship (signal permitting)

This pack is a working document. The pages worth opening from a deck chair:

- Section 2 — for the day-by-day, your reference for arrival and all-aboard times.
- Section 9 — for the group rhythm and what Tina is and isn't running.
- Section 6 — Emergency Contacts. Update your at-home contact with the family handoff card if you haven't already.
- Section 11 — for the first-time-cruiser orientation if anything in the rhythm of shipboard life is still unfamiliar.

NCL's onboard internet runs $30–40/day for the basic package; pre-cruise pricing is cheaper. If you're rationing minutes, port-day cell service is your default — most ports have decent US-roaming coverage.

Section 4 — Packing List (calibrated for Caribbean, 7 nights, May)

This list is tuned for: Caribbean in May — 80–88°F daytime, 75–80°F evenings, brief afternoon rain showers possible, water temperature ~82°F. Three port days mostly walking and beach time. Two sea days. One private-island beach day. NCL's smart-casual evening dress culture (no formal nights).

If you remember nothing else: the Caribbean packing rule is sun, water, and one outfit you'd be photographed in. Reef-safe sunscreen, water shoes, a hat that doesn't blow off, a swimsuit you can stand all-day in, and one nice dinner outfit for the group nights.

Documents and money

- Passport (preferred). For US citizens on a closed-loop Caribbean cruise that includes BVI (Tortola), a passport is the cleaner path. Birth certificate + state ID is technically accepted but the BVI's expectations sometimes differ from US-citizen norms.
- NCL booking confirmation and check-in QR (printed and saved on phone).
- Tina's group contact card (in phone notes and printed).
- Credit card you trust (notify the issuer of Caribbean travel; international fees waived if available).
- ~$200 USD cash in $5/$10/$20 bills for tips, excursion guides, and small purchases.

Carry-on (must arrive on the ship with you)

- All medications + 3-day buffer (NEVER in checked bags).
- Daily / scheduled / controlled-substance prescriptions in original labeled bottles.
- Swimsuit (pools open before bags arrive).
- Phone, charger, backup battery.
- Reading material for the pre-cabin window.
- Small refillable water bottle.
- Travel documents.

For the beach days (St. Thomas, Tortola, Great Stirrup Cay)

- Reef-safe sunscreen (SPF 30+, oxybenzone- and octinoxate-free).
- Water shoes or sturdy sandals — Damajagua and many Caribbean reef entries are rocky.
- Snorkel mask (optional — rentals available; bringing your own ensures fit).
- Beach bag — large enough for two towels, sunscreen, water bottle, phone, book.

- Sun hat (wide brim or cap).
- Sunglasses (polarized).

For the ship — daytime

- 7 daily outfits — comfortable casual.
- 5–6 t-shirts or breathable tops.
- 2 pairs lightweight pants or shorts.
- Comfortable walking shoes (broken in! not new!).
- Sandals or flip-flops.
- 2 swimsuits.

For the ship — evening

- 6 evening outfits — NCL's dress code is smart casual all week. Dressy jeans + a button-down, a casual dress, dressy linen separates. NCL has no formal nights — leave the tuxedo at home.
- 1 nicer outfit for the group dinners — Hudson's is a real sit-down restaurant; what you'd wear to a nicer dinner ashore.
- Light layer (sweater or jacket) for cold AC inside venues.

Solo / quiet items

- A book or e-reader.
- A pen for the customs declaration form.
- A small lock for valuables (the cabin safe is sufficient; this is for the beach bag).

Optional but useful

- Magnetic hooks (4–6) — Luna's cabin walls are steel; stick hooks for jackets, hats, swimsuits to dry. See cabin organization.
- A travel mug for coffee at Surfside.
- Reusable rubber duck — the cruise duck tradition; hide one on the ship for someone else to find. (Tina's groups often participate.)
- A small umbrella for an afternoon Caribbean rain squall (brief if so).

Skip

- Hairdryer (cabin has one).
 - Iron (not allowed; ship has limited self-service laundry).
 - Heavy formal wear (no formal nights; NCL is the most casual of the major US lines).
 - Beach umbrella (Great Stirrup Cay provides them free; St. Thomas/Tortola beaches rent them).
 - Currency exchange (USD is universal across this itinerary).

A realistic mid-range Studio-solo budget (per person, 7 nights, on top of cruise fare)

For a Studio cabin solo cruiser doing pay-as-you-go drinks, 2 ship excursions, and 1 specialty meal:

- Studio cabin (group rate): $1,839
- Auto-gratuuity: $140
- Drink-as-you-go (~4 cocktails + coffee/day): $280
- Specialty restaurant (1 night): $60

- Puerto Plata 27 Waterfalls: $150
- St. Thomas: Magens Bay independent: $40
- Tortola: Cane Garden Bay independent: $50
- Great Stirrup Cay: free beach + zipline: $20
- Wi-Fi (basic, partial): $100
- Pre-cruise hotel + transfer: $250
- Cash for ports + tips: $200

Total beyond cruise fare: ~$1,290. Total trip: ~$3,129 per person.

If your spending shape is different — Free at Sea bundle includes drinks, no excursions, cabin already includes Wi-Fi — drop your numbers into the cruise-budget-calculator.

How to spend less

- Studio cabin (already at the group rate — no further single-supplement savings unavailable).
- Skip the Drinks Package if not bundled; many cruisers don't break even.
- Independent excursions instead of ship-sold (Damajagua independent saves ~$80).
- Skip Wi-Fi or buy minimal-minute package.
- Skip the photo package.

How it costs more

- Balcony cabin (the Caribbean balcony argument is real but expensive at this group rate).
- The Haven suite (NCL's enclave; transformative if budget allows).
- Specialty Dining Package for 5+ nights.
- 27 Waterfalls + St. John day trip + Virgin Gorda Baths combo across the three port days.
- Vibe Shore Club at Great Stirrup Cay.

The cruise-tipping-calculator covers cash-tip math beyond auto-gratuity.

Section 6 — Emergency Contacts

Every Voyage Pack ships with this section. If you're the cruiser preparing for the trip, fill in the handoff card and share with one trusted person ashore. If you're reading this from the ship, every number is callable from your cabin phone or once you've reached a port-day cell signal.

The family handoff card

Copy this, fill in your specifics, and share with your at-home contact:

What an at-home contact actually does

If they don't hear from you for 36+ hours and they're worried:

1. Don't panic. Cruise Wi-Fi is unreliable and silence usually means signal, not emergency.

2. Call the NCL Care Team (numbers above). Identify themselves as your at-home contact; NCL will confirm you boarded and can relay messages to the ship.
3. Reach Tina (910-528-5077) — she's your in-person on the ship and likely has eyes on the group sooner than family ashore can.
4. If NCL confirms you're not aboard or there's been an incident: US Coast Guard for Caribbean waters; US Embassy / Consular Agency for the relevant port; NCL's on-board medical team for medical issues.
5. Track the ship's position for context.

What you should pack for emergencies

- Printed list of medications, allergies, and emergency contacts (in your cabin nightstand).
 - Photocopy of passport (separate from the passport itself).
 - Travel insurance policy number (printed).
 - The handoff card above, in your phone's notes app and shared with one trusted person.

Section 7 — Seasickness on a Caribbean Cruise

The Caribbean in May is generally calm. Norwegian Luna is large (156,300 GT) and her stabilizers handle most swell well. The transit between Miami and the Dominican Republic crosses about 800 nm of open water — that's the most you'll feel motion this week, and it's usually minimal.

The honest read: if you've never been seasick on land or in a boat, you almost certainly won't be on this itinerary. For most cruisers a 7-night Caribbean is the smoothest cruise itinerary they'll ever take.

What to bring

- Bonine (meclizine) or Dramamine Less Drowsy — over-the-counter, take 1 hour before expected motion.

- Sea-Bands — pressure-point wristbands. Mixed evidence but harmless.
- Ginger candies — backup for mild queasiness.

What helps once you feel it

- Get on deck — Ocean Boulevard is the best place on Luna for this.
- Eat something dry: crackers, dry toast, pretzels.
- Avoid alcohol.
- Take meclizine at the first hint, not after it's full-on.

If you booked a Studio cabin (interior, no window), you don't have horizon access from your cabin. Cure: spend daylight hours on Ocean Boulevard. Most motion-sensitive Studio cruisers are fine.

Section 8 — Practical Logistics

The NCL app

Download it now (App Store / Google Play). Once your booking is final and you've checked in:

- Daily program — schedule of activities, dining hours, show times.
- Cruise Planner — pre-cruise booking of drinks, specialty dining, spa, excursions.
- Onboard messaging — chat with members of your party (and Tina's group, if she sets up a channel) without internet.
- Reservations and account — your dining, your spa, your shipboard account.

The app is functional. Some features only work on the ship's Wi-Fi (not cellular). Plan accordingly.

Onboard internet

NCL's Internet is tiered:

- Wi-Fi Plus — basic; web, email, social media.
- Wi-Fi Premium — streaming; multiple devices; faster.

Pre-cruise pricing is generally cheaper than onboard purchase. For a 7-night cruise, buy if you genuinely need it; otherwise, port days have cell service and sea days are short.

The internet-at-sea page covers this in more depth.

Cell service

- In US (Miami, St. Thomas — US territory): your US carrier works.
- In Dominican Republic (Amber Cove): roaming applies. T-Mobile's free roaming covers DR at slower speeds; AT&T and Verizon charge $10/day or so.
- In British Virgin Islands (Tortola): roaming applies. Plans vary.
- In Bahamas (Great Stirrup Cay): roaming applies; island Wi-Fi is limited.
- At sea: no normal cell service. Default to airplane mode at sea.

Tipping

- On the ship: NCL's service charge is added daily ($20/person standard cabin; verify current). This covers stateroom, dining, and bar. Additional cash tips for outstanding service: steward $30–50, Hudson's waiter $20–40 at end of week.
- In ports: cash, USD, $5/$10 bills. 10–15% on tour cost; $1–2 per taxi; $1 per drink.

Money

- NCL uses your keycard for onboard charges; settle at debarkation via credit card.
- Bring USD cash for ports and tips (~$200 in small bills).
- ATMs exist in St. Thomas and Tortola; Amber Cove has a few. Bring cash from home if practical.

Section 9 — The Group Cruise Rhythm

This is the section to read first if you're already on the ship.

Tina's set one fixed point this week: dinner together at Hudson's, Deck 8, every evening at 5:30 PM. Everything else — the morning, the port-day, the spa, the show, the late evening — you and the group will work out as you go, hour by hour and day by day. That's by design.

A hosted solo-traveler group works best when there's enough scaffolding to find each other at predictable times, and enough open water to let each traveler shape the rest of the week to their own pace. The 5:30 dinner at Hudson's is your standing point of reunion. Show up if you can. If a port day runs long, or you want a quiet night in your cabin, or a friendship from yesterday is calling you to a different table — you haven't missed the group. You'll see them tomorrow at 5:30.

This is the genuine spirit of solo group cruising: company without obligation. Solitude without isolation.

What to expect of the standing dinner

- 5:30 PM, Hudson's, Deck 8 — NCL's main dining room with 270-degree floor-to-ceiling windows. Sunset on most evenings is between 7:45 and 8:00 PM in May Caribbean latitudes; by the time you finish dinner the light over the water is at its best.
- The group is likely seated at a large communal table or several adjacent four-tops. Arrive a few minutes early; introduce yourself to anyone you haven't met yet.
- Order anything. There's no "group menu." Hudson's serves the full Freestyle Dining menu.
- Conversation tends to lean to the day — what each person did in port, what they're planning for tomorrow, the small surprises of the ship. Don't worry about being "interesting"; the room handles the interesting.

What to expect of the rest of the day

Tina runs hosted activities that surface as they make sense — typically a welcome meet-and-greet on Day 1 or Day 2, periodic gatherings in the Penrose Atrium or a quiet lounge, and a farewell evening late in the week. Watch the group communication channel (Tina sends app messages or texts) for the specifics. The rhythm is “show up when it fits; opt out when it doesn’t.”

If you want company beyond the group

- The Studio Lounge (if you’re in a Studio cabin) — built-in solo community, hosted hours.
- Pool deck mid-afternoon — the social conversational time.
- Trivia and games — published in the daily program; teams form on the fly.
- The bars before dinner — Penrose Atrium bars and Ocean Boulevard bars host pre-dinner gatherings.

If you want quiet

- Your cabin balcony (if you booked one) — entirely yours.
- Ocean Boulevard at sunrise — almost no one is up.
- The Mandara Spa thermal area — heated stone loungers, sauna, steam; quiet by design.
- Hudson’s at lunch — much quieter than dinner; you can read while you eat.

The group is the floor, not the ceiling. Build the cruise you want on top of it.

Section 10 — Solo Cruising Considerations

A hosted solo group cruise on a brand-new ship is one of the best solo formats in the cruise industry — and Norwegian Luna is well-tuned to it. Studio cabins, Studio Lounge, and Tina’s hosting style combine into a low-friction solo experience.

Practical solo notes:

- The Studio supplement is zero. Studio cabins are priced for one. This is rare in the cruise industry and material to budget math.
- The Studio Lounge is a daily anchor independent of Tina's group meetups. Coffee in the morning, social hour late afternoon, hosted activities scattered through the week.
- Pool deck mid-afternoon is the most social part of the day if you want to meet people who aren't in the group.
- The Penrose Atrium bars (Luna's three-level atrium is a major social space) are where pre-dinner conversation forms.
- Don't feel obligated to do dinner only with the group. The 5:30 Hudson's gathering is the standing point of reunion. If you have a quieter night or a different friendship to honor, you haven't broken the rule.

For Tina's broader thinking on solo cruising specifically — what works, what doesn't, what surprises first-time solo cruisers — see her solo articles hub. Her Why I Started Solo Cruising is the origin story.

A small joy: cruise ducks

There's a tradition on cruise ships of bringing small rubber ducks and hiding them around the ship for fellow passengers to find. Solo cruisers often find this delightfully ridiculous — and that's exactly the point. If you want to participate, see the cruise duck tradition article. The site that produced this pack also runs a Duck Club affinity tier of supporters who find the tradition meaningful.

Section 11 — First Cruise Notes

If this is your first cruise of any kind (not just first NCL), a few things that won't be obvious:

The ship is a small city. ~3,500 passengers, ~1,400 crew, 20 decks. You won't see all of it. Make peace with this.

Embarkation is logistical, not magical. Day 1 is paperwork, lines, and finding things. The good part starts on Day 2.

The buffet (Surfside Café) is not the best food on the ship. It's fine. Hudson's is genuinely better — and you're eating there at 5:30 every night anyway. Indulge Food Hall is the casual standout: multi-vendor counters, small plates, well-paced.

You're going to forget your keycard the first day. Everyone does. Get a lanyard.

The first sea day, you'll feel disoriented. That's normal. Pick 2 things from the daily program, do them, sit down, stare at water. You'll find the rhythm.

The crew remembers you. Your stateroom steward, the Hudson's waiter you'll see every night — they learn your name, your drink preferences, your allergies. The relationship is real. It's worth being kind, and it's worth tipping in cash above the service charge if service warrants it.

NCL is more casual than the other major US lines. No formal nights. The pool deck is louder than Princess or Holland America. The vibe is “freestyle” — that's a brand word but it's also the truth of the experience.

Luna is brand-new. You're on a ship that's been in service for eight weeks. A few systems may have first-quarter rough edges. Most things will be smoother than on a 15-year-old ship.

You'll spend more on excursions than you think. Build a “shore-day budget” before sailing. The cruise-budget-calculator helps prevent the surprise.

You'll come home wanting to go back. Most first-time solo cruisers do another within 18 months. Plan accordingly — don't book the next cruise during the first 48 hours back, but know it's coming.

For more first-cruise context across cruise lines, see the broader first-cruise guide.

Continue planning on the site

A few threads worth pulling on the rest of the site this week or after you sail.

About your ship

- Norwegian Luna doesn't yet have a dedicated page on this site — she's brand new. The closest reference is her direct sister: Norwegian Aqua — same Prima Plus class, same hull form, very similar layout. The Luna-specific ship page is in development.
- Video walkthroughs of Norwegian Aqua's deck spaces give you ~80% of Luna's feel: Aqua video highlights.
- Logbook entries from travelers aboard Aqua read similarly to what you'll experience on Luna: Aqua logbook.

About the ports

Each port we visit has site coverage where it exists:

- PortMiami / Miami port page
- Puerto Plata / Amber Cove — coverage in this pack; a dedicated port page is in development.
- St. Thomas port page
- Tortola port page
- Great Stirrup Cay — coverage in this pack; NCL's redevelopment is mid-stride, so a dedicated page will land after the water park opens.

About Tina and her solo work

- Tina Maulsby's author page — her bio, her hosting style, the way she runs a group.
- Tina's solo articles hub — the broader writing on solo cruising that frames this trip.

Closing

A hosted solo-traveler group cruise on a brand-new ship in the Caribbean is a particular kind of week: the comfort of company at 5:30 every night, the freedom of port mornings shaped by your own curiosity, the quiet of an Ocean Boulevard sunrise that nobody else has woken up to see yet.

A few things worth remembering as the week unfolds:

- Hudson's at 5:30. The fixed point. Everything else floats around it.
- The crew makes the trip. Tip in cash, in envelopes, at the end. NCL's service charge covers the floor; cash above that says thank-you in the language that crosses every language on board.
- You don't have to do everything. The week is generous. Pick the day-by-day pieces that pull at you, and let the rest pass without guilt.
- Tina is your group's center, not its scheduler. She'll surface when it matters; the rest of the time, build the cruise you want.
- Norwegian Luna is brand new. You're among the first ten thousand or so travelers to sail her. That's a small but real thing.

If you want a one-line reminder to yourself this week: the goal is calm. Show up at Hudson's at 5:30. Let the rest find you.

Soli Deo Gloria.
