7-Night Western Caribbean — Solo Edition

MSC World America · 7 Nights from PortMiami

December 5 – 12, 2026 · Sailing solo

MSC World America at sea — MSC Cruises' second World-class ship, delivered March 2025

A Voyage Pack from In the Wake
Written for solo travelers sailing this itinerary

Welcome

This pack exists to make one specific cruise easier: MSC World America, sailing 7 nights from PortMiami, December 5 – 12, 2026, calling at Roatán (Honduras), Costa Maya (Mexico), Cozumel (Mexico), and Ocean Cay (Bahamas). It's written for someone sailing it alone: the week before the Christmas rush, after hurricane season has closed, when the Caribbean is warm and the ship is between the Thanksgiving crowds and the holiday-break crowds.

It is calm by design. There is no urgency, no upsell, no countdown timer. The site that produced this pack is independent — no cruise-line affiliations, no shore-excursion commissions, no display ads.

Includes an offline-capable Emergency Contacts section — a fillable handoff card, cruise-line and consulate numbers tailored to this itinerary. Designed to share with one trusted person ashore before sailing. When you sail alone, that person is your safety net.

If this is your first MSC sailing — even if you've cruised before — the line feels different from Royal Caribbean, Carnival, NCL, and Princess. We cover the differences in Section 1 below.

Section 1 — Your Ship: MSC World America

A class-defining ship in her second year of service

MSC World America was delivered March 27, 2025 by Chantiers de l'Atlantique at Saint-Nazaire, France — the second ship of MSC's World Class and the first dedicated to the US market. Her maiden voyage left PortMiami on April 12, 2025. By your December 2026 sailing she's a year and a half into service: past any new-ship teething, with the operating crew well-trained and the Caribbean rotation in steady rhythm. For broader context on MSC's positioning in the Caribbean alongside Royal, NCL, and Virgin, Caribbean Cruise Trends 2026 covers the deployment shifts.

She was christened by actress Drew Barrymore at PortMiami on April 9, 2025, with Orlando Bloom on hand and Gloria Estefan performing a concert from the deck. At 216,638 GT and 1,093 feet long, she's MSC's largest ship and one of the largest cruise ships in the world. Her direct sister is MSC World Europa (2022), homeported in the Mediterranean. For a side-by-side comparison against other Caribbean megaships (Symphony of the Seas, Norwegian Aqua, Carnival Mardi Gras, etc.), the Ship Size Atlas shows the actual relative scale on a single chart.

What's distinctive about World America

A few features set her apart from anything else you have likely sailed:

- The Y-shaped aft. Most ships have a flat stern. World America's stern is a wedge — a Y-shape with three floor-to-ceiling glass walls that frame the wake. The World Promenade (Deck 8) is the open-air promenade that wraps the aft Y, with bars and seating at the rail. The Panorama Lounge above it puts the same view behind a glass wall for cooler evenings — and December evenings on deck are cooler.
- The World Galleria — a three-deck central atrium with an LED ceiling that changes scenes throughout the day. The architectural centerpiece of the ship, and the easiest “meet you there” landmark when you make plans with people you meet aboard.
- Jaw Drop @ The Spiral — an 11-deck dry slide that MSC bills as one of the longest at sea. You step in through the jaws of a shark at Deck 20 and spiral down to the World Promenade on Deck 8. Not a waterslide — a dry stainless-steel corkscrew, with glimpses of the sea on the way down. Free.
- Cliffhanger — the only over-water swing ride at sea: four seats on powered arms that lift and swing riders out over the ship's edge, about 160 feet above the water. It lives in The Harbour, the outdoor district aft (the Aquapark, ropes course, themed playground and free grab-and-go food).

- The Harbour Aquapark — a real water park: waterslides including a 90-degree vertical-drop slide and a raft slide with virtual reality, plus a splash area. Hours, height limits and any cost are in the MSC for Me app.
 - Eataly at sea. World America carries the first floating Eataly — the Italian gourmet brand’s fresh-pasta, wood-fired-pizza, and gelato concept. Specialty dining (extra charge). On Deck 8.
 - Decks named after Americas port cities — Cozumel, Nassau, Santos, Miami, Seattle, Halifax, Los Angeles, Buenos Aires, New York, Ocean Cay, San Juan, Ocho Rios. Wayfinding gets easier once you’ve learned the geography metaphor.
 - LNG-powered. Dual-fuel engines plus Bloom Energy solid-oxide fuel cells. She burns natural gas, not heavy fuel oil — significantly lower particulate emissions. Practically: less engine vibration in lower-deck cabins.

What’s NOT on World America

Things you might expect from her size that she doesn’t have:

- No Cirque du Soleil. MSC’s longstanding Cirque partnership ended before her delivery; she launched without it. The replacement is in-house production shows at the World Theatre and a comedy/karaoke lounge called The Loft.
- No traditional formal nights. MSC has a “Gala Evening” once or twice per sailing (suit/cocktail-dress encouraged) but it’s softer than the legacy “formal night” of Holland America or Cunard. Most guests dress smart-casual all week and put on something nicer on Gala Evening.

Cabin categories — sailing solo

Before you commit, check the cabin on the deck plan against the seven trouble spots in our stateroom sanity check guide: under the pool deck, over the theater, by the galley or the elevator bank, far forward, behind a lifeboat, or on a connecting door. Our cabin-by-cabin checker does not cover MSC ships yet, so the deck plan is the check. The cabin-organization article (cruise-cabin-organization) covers the small-space pragmatics once you’ve chosen.

Sailing alone, the choices that matter most on World America:

- Studio cabins. World America has Studio cabins built for one guest, in an interior version and an ocean-view version. Cruise Hive's April 2025 preview measured the interior Studio at 118 sq ft and the ocean-view Studio at 129 sq ft; Cruisebound's cabin guide lists the interior at about 108. Booking a regular cabin for one carries a single supplement, so price a Studio against it before you decide. Walk the deck plan before booking a specific cabin number.
- Balcony on a December Caribbean week earns its keep differently than in summer — sea-day sunrises and port-arrival views, with the caveat that December evenings on the balcony want a light layer.
- Mid-ship, mid-deck cabins feel the least motion — worth weighting in December, when cold fronts can put chop in the Gulf and the Yucatán Channel (see Section 7).
- MSC Yacht Club is MSC's ship-within-a-ship suite product — 159 suites on World America, private restaurant, private pool deck, private bar, butler service. Priced well above standard categories.

Pricing for this specific sailing lives with your booking — this pack deliberately doesn't quote cabin rates it can't verify.

Dining

World America has 20+ dining venues. The dining map:

Included with your fare (no extra charge):

- Four main dining rooms on Decks 5 and 6: La Foglia, Esagono, Hexagon, Bubbles. Different room atmospheres, the same menu. MSC's MDRs run a slightly more formal European dining rhythm than the American lines — longer dinners, multiple courses, table service expected. If two hours at dinner is more than you want every night, the buffet and Luna Park are quicker.
- Il Mercato (Deck 18) — the main buffet. Long hours; the upper-deck windows look down on the pool deck.
- La Brasserie (Deck 19) — 24/7 French-style casual. Crepes, fresh-baked bread, lighter food. This is where you go at 2 AM, and where the breakfast buffet is least crowded.

- Luna Park Pizza & Burger (Deck 6) — quick casual, included. The quick-dinner fallback.
 - La Boca Grill (Deck 18) — Argentinian/Latin American, included with fare.
 - Promenade Bites (Deck 8) on the World Promenade — small plates and tapas, included.

Specialty dining (extra charge or part of a Specialty Dining Package):

- Eataly (Deck 8) — fresh pasta, wood-fired pizza, gelato. The first Eataly at sea. The reservation worth pre-booking on Day 1 if you only do one specialty meal.
- Paxos (Deck 8) — Greek seafood, open-air seating on the Promenade.
- Butcher's Cut — steakhouse.
- Kaito Teppanyaki and Kaito Sushi Bar — Japanese. Teppanyaki grills are usually shared with other guests, which makes it an easy dinner to do alone.
- HOLA! Tacos & Cantina — modern Mexican.
- Jean-Philippe Chocolat & Café — pastries and chocolate; partially included for some fare types, à la carte for others.
- Masters of the Sea Pub (Deck 7) — onboard microbrewery + pub food.

Drinks. MSC's drink package tiers (Easy / Easy+ / Premium Plus / Premium Extra) are different from NCL's or Royal's tiering. Whether you needs a package depends on what you actually drink — the drink-calculator lets you put in your real consumption pattern. The companion article Is the drink package worth it? walks through the breakeven math with worked examples.

Connectivity

MSC's Wi-Fi packages are tier-based (Browse / Browse & Stream / Browse, Stream & Calls) and run separately from the drink-package promotions. Pricing is significantly cheaper pre-cruise than onboard. The internet at sea guide covers the cross-line baseline including how to avoid cellular roaming charges in port.

The solo version of the right approach:

- One basic Wi-Fi plan covers the “checking in with home” job, and sailing alone, someone at home should hear from you every day
- Don't try to stream video at sea

- Use port-day cellular when possible (Roatán uses Honduras carriers, Mexican ports use Telcel/AT&T-Mexico, Ocean Cay has no terrestrial carriers at all)
 - Download the week's books, shows and music BEFORE leaving home; ship Wi-Fi will not do it
 - Keep one trusted person ashore informed via a daily one-line message; see Section 6 — Emergency Contacts

Section 2 — Day by Day

The day-by-day below uses this sailing's own MSC for Me itinerary (retrieved 2026-08-20). Re-verify in the app as the date approaches — times occasionally shift, especially around weather.

Weather lines quote typical early-December values — the Dec 5–12 window averaged over 2020–2024 from the Open-Meteo climate archive. Typical is not a forecast; the companion PWA shows the real forecast once each date is within ~16 days.

This is not your plan. What follows is one possible shape of the week, not a schedule to keep. Only a few things on it are actually fixed: the muster drill, sailaway, the ship's arrival and all-aboard times in each port, and anything you have already booked. Everything else is a suggestion you are free to ignore, reorder, or sleep through. A day spent entirely on your balcony is not a day wasted, and nothing here is a commitment you have made to anyone.*

Day 1 — Saturday, December 5 — PortMiami (embarkation)

Terminal: MSC Miami Cruise Terminal at PortMiami — the MSC-built terminal that opened in April 2025. ~492,678 square feet; MSC has marketed it as the world's largest cruise terminal. Different terminal from where Royal Caribbean and Carnival board at PortMiami; verify the MSC terminal address in the MSC for Me app before your taxi/Uber pickup.

Embark window: Typically 11:30 AM – 3:30 PM. Departure 5:00 PM (MSC app itinerary); all-aboard runs about an hour before sailing. Be at the terminal by 1:30 PM to clear security and embarkation with margin.

Typical December day: 78°F high / 65°F low, and December is Miami's dry season — only about 1 in 5 days sees measurable rain. Warm sun, genuinely cool evening.

Getting to PortMiami:

- Miami International (MIA) → PortMiami: Uber/Lyft $30–45, 20–30 min. Taxi $32 flat-rate.
- Fort Lauderdale (FLL) → PortMiami: Uber/Lyft $60–90, 45–60 min.
- If you're driving: PortMiami garage parking ran $35/day at Terminal AA (firsthand May 2026 — verify at booking); ~$245 for the week. Offsite Miami long-term lots run $7–14/day with shuttle service; weigh the shuttle hassle against the garage's walk-on convenience.

Pre-cruise hotel — strongly recommended. Same-day flights to an afternoon all-aboard are risky in any season. A Friday-night (Dec 4) stay in Miami Beach, Brickell, or Downtown gives you margin and a calmer Saturday morning.

The realistic Day 1 timeline:

- 10:30 AM – 12:00 PM: Arrive terminal, security, check-in. MSC's check-in is online via the MSC for Me app — complete it before you arrive to skip a 20-minute queue.
- 12:30 PM: Aboard. Cabins typically open by 1:30 PM; until then, lunch at the buffet (Il Mercato, Deck 18) or La Brasserie (Deck 19, calmer).
- 1:30 – 2:30 PM: Cabins open. Meet your stateroom steward; drop carry-ons. Walk the ship before the crowds settle in: the Galleria, the World Promenade, and the route to your muster station.
- ~3:30 PM: Mandatory muster drill — MSC's drill is partly app-based (watch the safety video in MSC for Me) plus an in-person check-in at your assigned station. You must complete both before sailing.
- 5:00 PM: Sailaway. The World Promenade (Deck 8 aft, the open-air promenade around the Y-shaped stern) is the signature viewing location. Less crowded than the main pool deck; the wake unfolds directly below the rail.

- 6:00 – 8:00 PM: Dinner — first night is the night to confirm your MDR seating time. If you'd like company at dinner, ask the maître d' about a shared table.

What to pack in the carry-ons for Day 1: swimsuits (pools open before checked bags arrive), light layers (December Miami afternoons run ~78°F but the evening drops to the 60s and ship interior runs ~72°F), all medications, a change of clothes per person, passports (preferred for Caribbean itineraries — Roatán and Mexico are foreign ports), phone chargers, refillable water bottles, embarkation paperwork (printed or in MSC for Me), and something to read in a check-in line. Checked bags may not arrive until 7–9 PM.

Money/card: Your MSC cruise cards are room key, ID, and onboard charge account in one. Currency aboard: US Dollar.

Day 2 — Sunday, December 6 — Cruising at sea

The settling-in day. The ship is heading southwest across the Gulf Stream and Yucatán Channel toward Roatán. Typical December sea-day weather on this leg: around 79/73 under the winter trades — breezy on deck, passing showers possible. (Sea-day values are estimated from adjacent-port normals.)

Morning: - The World Promenade (Deck 8 aft) for sunrise coffee. The wake view from the Y-shaped aft is one of the ship's signature experiences. - Breakfast at La Brasserie (Deck 19) — calmer than Il Mercato, French-style with fresh pastries and crepes. - Walk the ship deck by deck while it's quiet, and find the spots you'll want to come back to.

Mid-morning to lunch — pick ONE:

- Ride the Jaw Drop @ The Spiral. The 11-deck dry slide draws its longest lines in the afternoon; go early in the day for the shortest wait. Opening hours are in the MSC for Me app.
- MSC Aurea Spa thermal-suite day pass — sea-day mornings are when introductory rates appear. About 90 minutes is the right dose.
- Eataly cooking demo if scheduled — World America runs a pasta-making class on some sea days. Check the daily program.
- The Galleria atrium — three decks of LED ceiling, the day's best photo. Skip the rope line and just wander.

Afternoon: - Pool deck. December Caribbean sun is gentler than summer but still real — SPF 30 minimum, reapply. - Trivia, port talks, live music — MSC schedules a port-arrival briefing for Roatán. Worth attending; it's the port on this itinerary most worth planning around (weather and logistics both). - Specialty dining reservations. If you didn't book Eataly online pre-cruise, walk up to the host stand mid-afternoon. The 7:30 – 8:30 PM slots fill first.

Evening — likely Gala Evening #1.

MSC typically schedules one of the week's two Gala Evenings for the first sea day of a 7-night sailing — verify in your daily program. Smart-casual is the standard; Gala invites something slightly nicer (jacket, cocktail dress) but not formal. The buffet stays open if you'd rather skip it.

Day 3 — Monday, December 7 — Roatán, Honduras

Roatán waterfront

Times (MSC app): 9:00 AM – 6:00 PM. World America docks at the Port of Roatán at Coxen Hole — the pier at the island’s working capital on the central-north coast, used by MSC, Royal Caribbean, NCL, and Virgin. (Roatán’s other cruise pier, Mahogany Bay — recently rebranded Isla Tropical — is Carnival Corporation’s exclusive facility; World America does not call there.)

The December honesty note, up front. Early December is the tail of Roatán’s rainy season: in the Dec 5–12 window, roughly 3 out of 4 days see measurable rain (2020–2024 archive). Typical temps are a warm 81/77 — the rain is usually warm, often brief, and the sun between showers is real. What it means practically: plan a flexible beach day, not a tight-schedule day; pack dry bags for phones and a packable rain shell; and hold excursion bookings loosely enough that a morning downpour doesn't sink the day. If you get a dry day, Roatán is the best snorkel stop of the week.

Roatán — reef, beaches, and the excursion-pricing catch. Roatán is the largest of Honduras's Bay Islands, sitting on the Mesoamerican Reef — the world's second-largest barrier reef. Clear water, friendly locals, snorkeling that converts non-snorkelers into snorkelers, and a pricing structure where ship-sponsored excursions cost noticeably more than independently arranged alternatives. The island is the cruiser-friendly face of Honduras.

Free / low-cost, at the Port of Roatán (Coxen Hole):

- The port's shopping-and-dining complex at the pier — shops, restaurants, tour desks, a duty-free area, and taxi/tour touts (haggle, and agree fares before you get in).
- Coxen Hole town is right at the pier — a real, workaday Honduran capital rather than a manicured pier village. Most cruisers head straight for a beach.

Paid (decide ahead):

- West Bay Beach — Roatán's signature beach. About 30–40 minutes by taxi from Coxen Hole (~$6–10/person each way for a shared van; agree the fare first). White sand, calm water, restaurants, beach chairs ~$10–15/day. The day most cruisers come for.
- Snorkel from West Bay Beach — the reef is 30 yards offshore; bring your own mask and it's free. Best beach snorkeling on the itinerary. Alone, snorkel where other people are in the water, not off an empty stretch.
- Roatán Institute for Marine Sciences (RIMS) dolphin programs — at Anthony's Key Resort; $90–180/person. Well-regulated.
- Gumbalimba Park — botanical garden + monkey/iguana encounter + zipline ($40–80/person depending on bundle). The backup if the beach day washes out early.

Pack for Roatán: swimsuits, reef-safe sunscreen (locally enforced — the reef is protected), dry bags, packable rain shells, water shoes, $40–60 USD cash in small bills (US Dollar widely accepted; lempiras not necessary), sun hats.

Worth a look on the way in: the Roatán port page, its photo gallery, and the Roatán logbook. Build your day in the Port Day Planner before you go ashore.

Day 4 — Tuesday, December 8 — Costa Maya, Mexico

Costa Maya pier complex — purpose-built Mexican cruise port with the Yucatán coast beyond

Times (MSC app): 8:00 AM – 5:00 PM. Typical December day: 82/74, with better-than-even odds of a shower somewhere in the day and real sun between them.

Costa Maya — the purpose-built port, for better and worse. A Mexican government-built cruise port on the Yucatán's Caribbean coast — purpose-designed for cruise ships. The pier complex is large, manicured, and contains shops, restaurants, a small zoo, swimming pools, and excursion meeting points. It's the easiest of the Mexican ports — everything walkable from the ship — and the least “authentic Mexico” of the Yucatán cruise ports. That's not a value judgment; it's information. This is the low-effort day of the week, and after a Roatán beach day that's a feature.

Easy-day option (no taxi needed):

- Stay in the Costa Maya port complex. Tropicante beach area is a 10-minute walk from the gangway — chairs $10–15, drinks and food for purchase. The pool complex inside the port is free with your cruise card, shaded, and five minutes from re-boarding.

Half-day option:

- Mahahual village (~10 min by shared shuttle, ~$4/person each way) — a small fishing town turned cruiser stop. The malecón (waterfront walk) has restaurants, beach access, and shops less crowded than the port complex.

Full-day option:

- Chacchoben Mayan ruins (~45 min by tour bus). Independent operators outside the pier offer this for ~$50/person; ship excursions run ~$80–100. The one culture stop of the itinerary — smaller and less restored than Tulum but less crowded and closer. A real archaeological site.
- Bacalar lagoon “Lake of Seven Colors” — about 1.5 hours each way; full-day excursion only ($120–180/person). Long bus legs — weigh them against how much bus you want in one day.

Pack for Costa Maya: swimsuits, reef-safe sunscreen, light cover-ups, $40–60 USD cash, small backpack. You can return to the ship for lunch easily.

Worth a look: the Costa Maya port page, its gallery, and the Costa Maya logbook.

Day 5 — Wednesday, December 9 — Cozumel, Mexico

Cozumel waterfront

Times (MSC app): 9:00 AM – 7:00 PM. Verify the berth in the app — World America typically docks at one of three piers — Punta Langosta (downtown), International Pier, or Puerta Maya. Cozumel is the most heavily visited Caribbean port; expect several ships in port the same day.

Typical December day: 81/74 and breezy. One December-specific note: a norther (a cold front pushing down the Gulf) can stir the crossing and put chop on the island's west side — if one is passing, boat-snorkel tours may run bumpy or reschedule, and the calm-water beach parks become the better call. The ship's daily program and the tour operators will know; ask morning-of.

Cozumel — the Western Caribbean's dive capital. The reef system off Cozumel — protected within Cozumel Reefs National Park since 1996 — delivers visibility consistently among the best in the Caribbean. If you've ever wanted to try snorkeling, this is the day. Above water, Cozumel feels touristed in a familiar way — it's been a cruise stop for 50 years.

Easy-day option (no excursion needed):

- Stay near your pier. Punta Langosta puts you directly in downtown San Miguel — walk, find a real Mexican lunch ($15–25/person at a non-tourist restaurant), shop at Mercado Municipal (the local market, NOT the pier shops). International and Puerta Maya are 5–10 minutes from downtown by taxi (~$10).

Half-day options:

- Chankanaab Beach Adventure Park (~$50/person entry, ~15 min by taxi). Calm water, snorkel rentals, lounge and umbrella. The easiest snorkel setup on the itinerary, and a good one alone — protected water, gear on site, other people and facilities at your back.
- Paradise Beach (~$3 entry, free chairs with food/drink minimum, ~15 min by taxi). Lower-key with a real “Mexican beach club” feel.

Full-day options:

- Palancar Reef snorkel tour — the iconic Cozumel experience. Operators on the pier offer this for $40–60/person (ship excursion: $80–110). Two-hour tour, calm-day dependent in December. Confident swimmers only — Chankanaab is the better call if you’re not.
- Tulum ruins (ferry + bus; $90–150 ship or ~$80 independent). A long day; Chacchoben yesterday covers the Mayan itch with far less transit.

A note on shopping: Cozumel’s pier shops sell the same blanket, silver, and vanilla at every Caribbean port. The interesting shopping is at Mercado Municipal in San Miguel — vanilla, ceramics, leather, and food vendors at local-shopper prices.

For wheelchair users and limited mobility: Cozumel is genuinely accessible at the piers. Punta Langosta connects directly to a paved boardwalk into San Miguel. Beach clubs have beach wheelchairs available; ask in advance. Snorkel boats are typically NOT accessible — book a beach-snorkel instead.

Pack for Cozumel: swimsuits, reef-safe sunscreen, water shoes, sun hats, $60–80 USD cash for entry fees and lunch, waterproof phone case.

Worth a look: the Cozumel port page, its gallery, and the Cozumel logbook.

Wednesday evening: the late departure means no rush back — all-aboard is likely ~6:30 PM; verify in the app.

Day 6 — Thursday, December 10 — Cruising at sea

The week's second sea day, running northeast toward the Bahamas. December note: this is the leg where a passing cold front shows up as wind and chop — typical values around 77/72, cooler than the outbound leg, and the deck wants a light layer after sunset. (Sea-day values estimated from adjacent-port normals; see Section 7 if anyone's motion-prone.)

Morning ideas:

- The Aurea Spa if you didn't book it on Day 2 — thermal-suite day passes still appear in the morning slots.
- Breakfast at La Brasserie (Deck 19) — the second sea day is when the buffet rush has settled.
- The Galleria atrium at sunrise — the LED ceiling cycles a different scene by hour.

Mid-morning to early afternoon:

- Send out a laundry bag. MSC ships have no self-service laundrettes; laundry is a paid valet service, priced per item or by the bag (prices in the MSC for Me app). A mid-week bag is worth pricing before you pack an extra suitcase of clothes.
- The pool deck — with Ocean Cay tomorrow, today is the lounging day; tomorrow is full sun and less shade.
- Specialty lunch. Eataly's lunch service is quieter than dinner; walk-up availability is real midday.

Afternoon:

- Port talk for Ocean Cay — worth attending: it covers the beach map, what's included, and the arrival/departure window — which on this sailing determines the lighthouse-show question (see tomorrow).
- Book any Ocean Cay cabana tonight in the MSC for Me app if you want one — dockside prices run higher.

Evening — possible Gala Evening #2:

MSC schedules a second Gala Evening typically on the second sea day of a 7-night sailing. Tonight is also the calmest night for the specialty dinner you skipped earlier — Butcher's Cut, Paxos, and the Kaito venues have their shortest lines.

Day 7 — Friday, December 11 — Ocean Cay, Bahamas

The signature view — a “WE ♥ OCEAN CAY” boat-bench on white sand with the red-and-white striped Marine Reserve lighthouse on the spit behind it, beach umbrellas flanking either side

Times (MSC app): 8:00 AM – 8:00 PM — a late-departure call. The public listing used earlier showed 7:00 AM – 6:00 PM; the app’s window departs two hours later into the evening (and runs an hour longer overall), and that 8:00 PM departure is what makes the lighthouse evening show possible (below).

World America docks alongside Ocean Cay’s deep-water pier — no tender. Gangway to sand is about 5–10 minutes’ walk.

MSC Seaside (a sister-line ship in the same MSC berth) alongside Ocean Cay's deep-water pier — World America uses the same dock; no tender

Typical December day: 76/72 — Bahamian winter. Pleasant, breezy, only about 1 in 5 days sees rain. The water is cooler than summer but swimmable. Limited natural shade matters less in December than July, but the sun is still real.

Ocean Cay — from aragonite mine to private island. MSC's private island — and only MSC's. Located in the Bimini chain of the Bahamas, ~65 miles east of Miami. Until 2015 the cay was an industrial aragonite-mining operation. MSC bought it, spent ~$200 million and four years rebuilding it, and opened it in December 2019 as the Ocean Cay MSC Marine Reserve. Your visit lands almost exactly on the island's seventh birthday.

Ocean Cay is deliberately different from CocoCay, Half Moon Cay, and Castaway Cay. No waterpark, no helium balloon, no zip line, no overwater cabanas. What it has instead: an engineered swim lagoon, the lighthouse, the Marine Conservation Center, and seven named beaches with distinct personalities. First-timers expecting waterpark-and-fireworks will call it boring; veterans comparing private islands rate it highly for what it deliberately chooses not to be.

Free with your cruise fare:

- All seven beaches — South Beach, Lighthouse Bay, Bimini Beach, Pineapple Beach, Seakers Family Cove, Sunset Beach, Ocean House Beach. All sand, all included, all walkable from the pier or via free tram.
- Loungers and umbrellas at the main beach areas.
- Tram service — runs the spine of the cay, free, accommodates wheelchairs and strollers.
- Buffet lunch at the Marketplace Buffet near the pier (sit-down options at Boho House, Seakers, Smiling Fish — inclusion status varies by venue; verify in the app before counting on a complimentary sit-down).
- The Beach Shack at South Beach — chalkboard menu of cheeseburger, hot dog, fries, chicken nuggets, brownie. 11 AM to 4 PM.
- Lighthouse climb during posted hours.
- Marine Conservation Center tours — scheduled hours, free.

Paid add-ons: cabana rentals (pre-book in the app — typically cheaper than dockside), reserved beach beds, snorkel-gear rental, specialty restaurant covers, Spa Ocean Cay treatments.

The engineered swim lagoon viewed through the breakwater — calm, contained turquoise, with South Beach umbrellas visible at the far end

The beaches — the solo read:

- Seakers Family Cove — protected swim area with reef structure creating shallow zones. Calm water for an easy swim.
- South Beach — the center, the busiest, where the Beach Shack and the swim lagoon are. Alone, it's the place to swim: there are always people around.
- Bimini Beach and Pineapple Beach — twin west-side beaches, calmer water, often less crowded.
- Lighthouse Bay — east side, next to the tower. Quieter cove, photogenic.
- Ocean House Beach (far north) — longest walk, least crowded.
- Sunset Beach (south end) — quieter end of the cay.

Ocean Cay's red-and-white striped lighthouse seen across the cruise pier, with the thatched-roof Lighthouse Bar at its base and the swim-zone buoy line in the channel — the first thing you see from the gangway

The lighthouse evening show — now genuinely in play. The 15-minute lighting-and-music performance runs only on overnight or late-departure calls — and this sailing's MSC-app window is 8:00 AM – 8:00 PM, a late departure. December sunset at Ocean Cay lands around 5:30 PM (approximate for the latitude and season), so there is real darkness before sail-away; whether the full show runs on your call is set by the ship's program, not this pack — check the daily program aboard. If it runs, Lighthouse Bay beach is the watching spot and the World Promenade the shipboard backup. If it doesn't, the lit tower at sail-away is still the week's best night photo.

The Marine Conservation Center. Real, not branding. The MSC Foundation operates it; coral nursery work, turtle-nesting protection on the cay's beaches. Free tours during scheduled hours; ~6-minute walk from the pier. Ocean Cay carries a Mission Blue Hope Spot designation — and it's the best 30 minutes of "the ocean is worth taking care of" on the itinerary.

Pack for Ocean Cay:

- MSC cruise cards — required for entry and all purchases. Cash is not needed on the cay.
- Reef-safe sunscreen — December sun is gentler than summer, still reapply.
- Waterproof phone case for swim-lagoon photos.
- Hats and sunglasses.
- Flip-flops AND water shoes — the limestone shoreline gets rocky away from the swim cove.
- A light layer for the sail-away — December evening on deck is cool.

Pitfalls and things to know:

- Beach Shack vs. sit-down venues. Beach Shack is hot-dogs-and-nuggets. The buffet and labeled restaurants have real food.
- Inclusion status not always clearly posted. Verify in the app or ask a venue host.
- Construction may be visible on the cay's south spit.
- No passport stamp. Ocean Cay is a private island; you don't formally enter the Bahamas.

Worth a look: the Ocean Cay port page — extensive coverage of the cay's history, the beach personalities, the lighthouse show, the accessibility design, and logbook entries from prior visitors.

Day 8 — Saturday, December 12 — PortMiami (debarkation)

The realistic timeline:

- 6:00 – 8:00 AM: Breakfast at the buffet (Il Mercato or La Brasserie). Eat now if your bags went out last night.
- ~7:00 AM: Arrival and customs clearance. Self-disembarkation begins for guests carrying their own bags.

- 7:30 – 10:00 AM: Walk-off in waves. All passengers off by 10:00 AM per MSC standard.

The bag situation. The night before, MSC asks you to place checked luggage outside your cabin door by ~11 PM with the color-coded debark tag. Bags go to the terminal overnight; you collect them in baggage claim before customs. Traveling alone with one bag, seriously consider self-carry — one wave, no waiting, done.

Carry-on for debark morning: a change of clothes, all medications, passports, chargers, valuables, and anything you can't bear to lose if a bag is misrouted.

Getting from PortMiami to MIA: Uber/Lyft $30–45, 20–30 minutes; Saturday-morning surge pricing is real, so pre-book if possible. For a domestic flight after 4 PM, leave PortMiami by 1:30 PM; MIA TSA runs 30–60 min during the Saturday cruise-return rush.

Killing hours before an evening flight: Bayfront Park / Bayside Marketplace (10-minute walk), Pérez Art Museum ($20, air-conditioned, 15-minute walk), or Brickell by short Uber. PortMiami has no official luggage storage; some Bayside vendors hold bags for $5–10/bag — confirm before counting on it.

And then you're home — thirteen days before Christmas, with the laundry done by the ship and the tree still up ahead of you.

Section 3 — Pre-Cruise Countdown

As early as possible — booking and big decisions

- Confirm the booking details with your travel agent or MSC directly: cabin category and numbers, final price, what's included (drinks package tier, Wi-Fi tier, gratuities prepaid or not, specialty dining package).
- Buy travel insurance if you want it. December 5 sails after hurricane season ends (November 30), so named-storm risk is low — but trip-cancellation coverage for non-weather reasons (illness, an emergency at home) is worth considering, and medical coverage matters more when there's nobody with you to sort things out.

Specialist providers (Allianz, Travelex, Travel Guard) usually beat your home/auto insurer's add-on.

- Plan flights to Miami. MIA is the obvious airport; FLL (~30 min north) is workable and sometimes cheaper. Arrive at minimum the day before sailing (Friday, December 4). Same-day flights are not advised — December brings fog and front-driven delays to the whole eastern seaboard.
- Choose the Friday-night hotel. Brickell, Downtown Miami, or Miami Beach put you within easy reach of PortMiami on Saturday morning.

4 months before — soft logistics

- MSC for Me accounts. Set up online check-in; complete health questionnaires close to sailing (some MSC questions are time-limited).
- Specialty dining reservations. MSC opens specialty reservations ~3–4 months pre-cruise. Eataly fills first.
- Excursion bookings. Ship-sold excursions are bookable in MSC for Me; independent operators in Roatán and Cozumel typically have email-only booking 60–90 days out. For December, favor refundable/flexible bookings in Roatán (rainy-season odds — see Day 3).

2 months before — final commitments

- Pre-pay gratuities if you're going to (small discount vs. onboard rates).
- Drink package upgrades — pre-cruise rates run 15–20% cheaper than onboard.
- Confirm the pre-cruise hotel.
- Begin the packing list. Reference Section 4 below.

1 month before — final prep window

- Photocopy passports — keep copies in the cabin nightstand separate from the passports.
- Print the emergency handoff card and share it with one trusted person ashore. Sailing alone, this is the most important line on this list.
- Buy travel insurance if you haven't.

14 days before — soft logistics

- MSC online check-in closes typically at 7 days pre-cruise — complete it earlier.
- Print boarding documents (or save offline in MSC for Me).
- Begin physical packing — and stage the Christmas prep you'll want done before you leave, because you land home on December 12 with thirteen days to go.

Day before — Miami arrival (Friday, December 4)

- Fly into MIA or FLL.
 - Check into the Friday-night hotel.
 - Confirm porter/cab/Uber timing for Saturday morning.

Section 4 — Packing List (calibrated for early-December Caribbean)

This list is tuned for: early-December Western Caribbean — 76–82°F daytime highs falling to 65–77°F overnight depending on the stop (Miami and Ocean Cay are the cool ends; Roatán barely drops), a real chance of rain in Roatán and the Mexican ports, and cool, breezy December evenings on deck. Four port days, two sea days, one private-island beach day (Ocean Cay). MSC's smart-casual evening dress culture (no strict formal nights; one or two Gala Evenings invite a slightly dressier outfit, jacket not required).

The one-sentence difference from a summer Caribbean list: add a real light layer and rain protection, subtract nothing.

Documents and money

- Passports (strongly preferred for Caribbean itineraries — Roatán and Mexico are foreign ports)
- Photocopies of passports (separate location from the passports themselves)

- Travel insurance policy and emergency phone number (printed)
 - Credit card + debit card (separate locations, in case one is lost)
 - $200–300 USD cash in small bills ($1s, $5s, $10s) for tips, taxis, and small purchases ashore — broken across wallet, day-pack, and cabin safe
 - MSC cruise documents (printed boarding passes + saved offline in MSC for Me)
 - A copy of your handoff card (Section 6), the same one your person at home has

Carry-on (must arrive on the ship with you)

- All medications in original prescription bottles
- Phones + chargers + a power bank
- Refillable water bottles
- Light layers (December Miami evenings drop to the 60s; ship interior runs ~72°F)
- Swimsuits (pools open before checked bags arrive)
- A change of clothes
- Sunglasses, sun hats, reef-safe sunscreen
- Something to read in a line

Daytime — port and ship

- 4–5 swimsuits (in the water most days; rotation beats dampness)
- 2 swim cover-ups
- 3–4 quick-dry t-shirts or tank tops
- 2 pairs lightweight shorts
- 1–2 pairs lightweight pants (Chacchoben ruins; mosquito-protective for inland excursions)
- 1 lightweight long-sleeve shirt (sun at Ocean Cay; evening deck)
- 1 light cardigan/fleece or wrap — this is the December line-item: evening deck, sail-away, and the ship's AC all want it

Rain gear — the December addition

- Packable rain shell (Roatán's rainy-season odds are real — see Day 3)

- Dry bags for phones and cameras on port days
 - A folding travel umbrella if you prefer one (shells beat umbrellas on a breezy pier)

Evening — ship dining

- 4–5 smart-casual outfits — sundresses, lightweight pants + nicer top, dress slacks + button-down. MSC's evening dress code is European-casual: nicer than American casual, less formal than American legacy lines.
- 1 Gala Evening outfit (cocktail dress, dressy jumpsuit, dress slacks + jacket, dressy separates) — wearable twice across the week's two Gala Evenings
- Comfortable dress shoes (low heels; long carpeted corridors and gentle motion)

Footwear

- Comfortable walking shoes (sneakers or sandals)
- Water shoes (Cozumel snorkeling, rocky shorelines, Ocean Cay limestone) — strongly recommended
- Flip-flops (pool deck and cabin)
- Dress shoes — one pair only

Toiletries

- All prescription medications (original bottles, in carry-on)
- Over-the-counter standbys: Tylenol, Advil, Imodium, Benadryl, Dramamine or Bonine (see Section 7)
- Reef-safe sunscreen (SPF 30+ minimum; reef-safe is enforced in Roatán and Cozumel)
- After-sun aloe gel
- Insect repellent (DEET 25%+ or picaridin) for inland excursions
- Toothbrushes, toothpaste, deodorant, basic toiletries
- Hair care for humidity
- Lip balm with SPF

Accessories and essentials

- Polarized sunglasses
- Sun hats with brims
- Small daypack for port days
- Waterproof phone cases (snorkeling + Ocean Cay swim lagoon)
- Beach towels? — MSC provides pool/beach towels at the pool deck and at Ocean Cay; don't pack them
- Power adapter — World America has US and EU outlets; a USB-multiplier strip handles your device pile
- E-readers or books for sea days; downloaded shows and music — download before leaving home

Skip — what NOT to bring

- Iron or steamer — prohibited in cabins; ships provide ironing facilities
 - Candles — prohibited (fire hazard)
 - Multipack hangers — cabins have adequate hangers
 - Heavy jewelry — the cabin safe handles essentials; leave high-value pieces home
 - Large bills — the ship and Ocean Cay are cashless; ashore, the cash you need is small bills for tips, taxis and entry fees (see Documents and money above)
 - Multiple formal outfits — MSC's "Gala" is two evenings max and not strict formal
 - Beach umbrella or pop-up shade — Ocean Cay rents umbrellas; the ship pool deck has shade

Section 5 — Budget Breakdown

The numbers below are calibrated for this itinerary. For a budget tuned to your cabin choice, drinking habits, excursion appetite, and tipping pattern, the cruise-budget-calculator builds a personalized total — usually within 5% of what you'll actually spend if you input honestly. Sailing alone, every line is yours alone — there's nobody to split a cabana, a taxi or the hotel room with.

What's included in your fare

- Your cabin
- All meals in the MDRs, buffet (Il Mercato, La Brasserie), Luna Park Pizza & Burger, La Boca Grill, Promenade Bites
- Soft drinks, juice, coffee, tea at most venues (specifics depend on your fare type — Bella, Fantastica, or Aurea)
- Onboard entertainment in the World Theatre, The Loft, Luna Park Arena
- Pools, the Harbour Aquapark, fitness center, the Jaw Drop dry slide
- No tendering on this itinerary — World America docks alongside at all ports
- Cabin steward and dining-room service

What's NOT included

The realistic add-on costs, per person unless noted:

Category	Typical cost (per person, week)
Drinks package (if not in fare)	$400–700 adult — Easy: ~$50/day · Premium Plus: ~$80/day
Wi-Fi package	$80–180 — varies by tier; one basic plan covers checking in with home
Service charge / gratuities	~$119 adult — $17/day standard ($23/day Yacht Club), rate effective May 11, 2026
Specialty dining	$0–250 — Eataly ~$45 · Butcher's Cut ~$55 · Paxos ~$40 (per meal)

Category	Typical cost (per person, week)
Shore excursions — Roatán	$0–150 — taxi to West Bay ~$15; snorkel tour ~$40 indep / ~$100 ship
Shore excursions — Costa Maya	$0–100 — port complex free; Chacchoben ~$50 indep / ~$80 ship
Shore excursions — Cozumel	$0–110 — Chankanaab ~$50; ship Palancar ~$95
Ocean Cay add-ons	$0–250 — cabanas $150–300; snorkel rental ~$25
Spa treatments	$0–500 — massages $130–200 · thermal-suite day pass $40
Photos	$0–250 — Photo Package ~$200

A realistic mid-range solo shape (on top of cruise fare)

Item	Cost
Gratuities ($17/day × 7)	$119
Wi-Fi (one Browse package)	$90
Specialty dining (Eataly once)	$45
Roatán: taxis + chairs + lunch	$50
Costa Maya: pools free + lunch	$30
Cozumel: Chankanaab + lunch	$75
Ocean Cay: included day + extras	$30
Airport transfers MIA ↔ port	$80
Pre-cruise hotel (Friday night, the whole room)	$180
Tips above and beyond	$30
Total above fare	~$730

The hotel line is the one that changes most for a solo traveler: the shared-room estimate this table started from counted half a room ($90), and alone you pay all of it. Frugal version (no specialty dining, no packages, port-complex days): ~$440 above fare, the same unshared hotel night included. Run your own honest numbers in the calculator.

Section 6 — Emergency Contacts

Every Voyage Pack ships with this section. Fill in the handoff card and share it with one trusted person ashore. Sailing alone, that person is the one who will notice if something is wrong.

What an at-home contact actually does

If they don't hear from you for 36+ hours and they're worried:

1. Don't panic. Cruise Wi-Fi is unreliable and silence usually means signal, not emergency.
2. For a true emergency, call the State Department's Overseas Citizens Services line (above) — it runs 24/7 and can locate the ship and reach MSC through official channels at no cost. To pass a non-urgent message aboard, MSC Guest Relations (877-665-4655, business hours ET) can relay to the ship.
3. Reach your travel agent if there's a booking question or if MSC's line isn't getting through.
4. If MSC confirms an incident: US Embassy Tegucigalpa for Honduras; US Consulate Mérida for Mexican ports; for Bahamas the ship's resources cover Ocean Cay.
5. Track the ship's position using the link above for context.

What you should pack for emergencies

- Printed list of your medications, allergies, and emergency contacts (in the cabin nightstand)
 - Photocopies of passports (separate from the passports)
 - Travel insurance policy number (printed)
 - The handoff card above, in your phone's notes app and shared with one trusted person

Section 7 — Seasickness

Here December differs from the calm late-spring weeks, and it's worth saying plainly: early-December Western Caribbean is generally comfortable, but cold fronts (“northers”) cross the Gulf of Mexico and the Yucatán Channel in winter and can bring a day of real wind and chop. The exposure points are the Day-2 southwest transit, the Day-6 northbound run, and — for tour boats rather than the ship — Cozumel's west side on a front day. A 216,000-ton ship shrugs off most of it; a motion-sensitive stomach notices anyway.

If you're prone to motion sickness:

- Bonine (meclizine) — once-daily, less drowsy than Dramamine.
- Sea-bands (acupressure wristbands) — placebo or not, many find them effective, and they're the zero-side-effect option.
- Ginger (capsules, tea, candies) — mild but real anti-nausea effect.
- Scopolamine patches (prescription, behind-the-ear) — strongest option for adults, prescribed pre-cruise; 3-day duration.
- Cabin choice: mid-ship and mid-deck feels the least motion. Decks 8–12 mid-ship are the calm zone.

If someone gets sick onboard: the ship's medical center stocks IV anti-nausea medication. Bring travel insurance — onboard medical bills are real and not covered by US health insurance.

Section 8 — Practical Logistics

Cell service and roaming

- At sea — ship Wi-Fi only; airplane mode ON — a phone quietly roaming on the ship's cell tower at $5–10/minute is a classic final-bill surprise.

- Roatán — Honduran carriers Tigo, Claro. US carriers roam at international rates; check your plan.
 - Costa Maya / Cozumel — Mexican carriers Telcel, AT&T Mexico. US T-Mobile customers get included Mexico roaming; Verizon and AT&T-US day passes run ~$10/day.
 - Ocean Cay — no terrestrial cellular. Ship Wi-Fi only if you bought the package; otherwise you're offline for the day. Tell your person at home the day before that they won't hear from you until evening. This is fine. It might be the best day.

Currency

- Aboard: US Dollar.
- Roatán: US Dollar widely accepted; lempiras not necessary. Small bills ($1, $5, $10) are best.
- Costa Maya / Cozumel: US Dollar widely accepted at tourist-facing businesses; pesos get better prices off the tourist track. Credit cards at sit-down restaurants. Pier ATMs charge ~$3/withdrawal.
- Ocean Cay: MSC cruise card only; no cash needed.

Tipping ashore

- Roatán: 10–15% on restaurant bills, $1–2/person on guided tours.
- Costa Maya / Cozumel: 10–15% on restaurant bills, 10–20 pesos for taxi drivers, $5–10/person for half-day tours.
- Ocean Cay: gratuities are bundled into your fare; $1–2 to a bartender who took good care of you is appreciated, not expected.

Onboard tipping (gratuities)

MSC's daily Hotel Service Charge ran $17/person/day for standard cabins and $23/person/day for Yacht Club as of the May 11, 2026 rate change, charged to your onboard account. For the all-in tipping picture across auto-grats plus typical cash tips, the cruise-tipping-calculator gives a calibrated read; Cruise Tipping 2026 is the longer read.

Section 9 — The Solo Cruise Rhythm

Nobody sets your rhythm when you sail alone. That's the best part of it, and a little structure keeps it that way. The pattern that works:

- Day 1: admin, then sailaway. Muster done, cruise card checked, the MSC for Me app logged in, then sailaway from the World Promenade. The whole week gets easier when Day 1's admin is done by dinner.
 - One message home, every day. Same time each day, one line: where the ship is and that you're fine. Your person at home should know when to expect it and what to do if it doesn't come (Section 6). Tell them ahead about Ocean Cay, which has no cell service.
 - Leave word before you go ashore. Where you're going and when you expect to be back, in a message home or a note in the cabin. It takes a minute, and it's the thing a companion would have known.
 - Own the all-aboard time. Nobody is waiting for you on the pier. Set a phone alarm for an hour before all-aboard on every port day, on ship time, not local time. The ship plans around its own excursions; on an independent tour, getting back is on you.
 - Dinner is yours to shape. A set MDR time gives the day a spine; the buffet, La Brasserie and Luna Park let you skip it any night. If you'd like company, ask the maître d' about a shared table.
 - Port days: one plan, one backup. December's rain odds (Roatán especially) reward a loose plan with a named fallback over a tight itinerary.
 - Last night (Friday, post-Ocean Cay): bags out by ~11 PM if using MSC's overnight bag service, or skip it and carry your own. Alone with one bag, self-carry is the quick way off.

Section 10 — Sailing Solo on MSC

Sailing alone on MSC is good, but different from Royal Caribbean, Carnival, or NCL. The differences worth knowing:

- Studio cabins exist on this ship. World America has single-occupancy Studio cabins, interior and ocean-view (Section 1). A regular cabin booked for one carries a single supplement, so compare the two before you book.
 - European cruise culture. MSC is an Italian-headquartered line with a European passenger demographic that often outnumbers the American share even on Caribbean sailings. You'll hear Italian, French, Spanish, and German in the corridors. Most crew are multilingual; signage is English-first.
 - A different evening rhythm. MDR dinners run longer and more course-paced than American lines. Luna Park Pizza & Burger is the honest fallback on the nights you don't want two hours at a table.
 - Meeting people. Trivia, the port talks, and The Loft's comedy and karaoke are the easiest rooms to start a conversation in. Check the daily program for a solo travelers' get-together; we couldn't confirm that MSC holds one on this ship, so don't plan the week around it.
 - December crowds. December 5–12 sits after Thanksgiving and before school holiday breaks — expect a calmer ship than summer or the Christmas/New Year's sailings that bracket it. (Expectation from the calendar, not a measured count.)
 - Holiday season aboard. Early-December sailings fall inside the ship's holiday season — expect seasonal décor and programming in some form, and check the daily program for the specifics.
 - For first-time MSC cruisers coming from another line: the MSC for Me app is the operational hub — daily program, dining reservations, ship map. Download and log in before sailing. Gratuities are called "Service Charge." Drink-package tier names don't map to your previous line's.

Section 11 — First Cruise Notes

If this is anyone's first cruise, a few foundational notes (the first-cruise guide is the deeper read; the Cruising Duck tradition is the one piece of cruise culture worth knowing in advance; the cruise-tech and photography guide helps you pack the right cables, mounts, and waterproof cases for World America's signature views):

- The cabin is small. Even Balcony cabins are smaller than a budget hotel room. You're not living in the cabin; you're sleeping in it. The ship is your living room.
- You can't get lost. Every elevator lobby has a deck map. Every crew member can direct you. The Galleria (Decks 6–8 mid-ship) is the orienting landmark.
- You don't need to book everything ahead. Most days unfold with significant unplanned time. That's by design.
- Tipping is built in. Beyond the auto-gratuity, you don't need to tip every interaction. A few dollars to a great steward at week's end is appreciated, not expected.
- Don't try to do everything. A week is enough time to do what matters. Trying to do every show, every venue, every excursion will burn you out by Day 4 — and you'll remember the unstructured afternoon on the Promenade over the third scheduled activity anyway.

The thing nobody tells first-timers: the best moments of a cruise are usually unplanned. The conversation at the rail on Day 3. Finding out the Jaw Drop line is shortest first thing in the morning. The 30 minutes you spent watching the wake unfold from the World Promenade while everyone else was still at breakfast.

Leave room for that.
